Led by uncertainty over the pace of future rate hike by Fed, kept the investors on the edge as they looked for further cues. A confirmed inflation print for the Euro zone at 8.9% in Jul'22 (highest since-1999) added to the growing calls of more rate hikes by ECB. On currency front, DXY strengthened and rose to a fresh one-month high. Investors will closely monitor the upcoming Fed's annual Jackson hole meeting and other key data releases including jobless claims to guide the market. In India, RBI's bulletin highlighted domestic economy is showing signs of broadening with signs of improvement seen in demand side indicators.

- Global indices ended mixed as investors continued to monitor the Fed minutes and awaited the release of key data prints including jobless claims and homes sales scheduled to release later. Nikkei (1%) dropped the most followed by Hang Seng (0.8%). US indices ended a tad higher. Sensex (0.1%) too ended in green supported by gains in real estate and power stocks. It is trading higher today while other Asian stocks are trading mixed.
