Services activity globally showed revival. Services PMI in India, China, Japan, UK, and Eurozone rose sharply in Feb'23. In US, ISM services remained in the expansionary zone but eased a tad to 55.1 from 55.2 in Jan'23. Officials from both the Fed and ECB reiterated the need for more rate hikes to cool inflation. In further signs of resilience in the Eurozone, Germany's export growth showed momentum, rising by 2.1% in Jan'23 (est. 1.5%) on a MoM basis. In India, services PMI rose to a 12-year high at 59.4 in Feb'23 from 57.2 in Jan'23 supported by moderation in input prices and increase in new orders. Market focus will be on US jobs reports, Fed Chair's testimony, BoJ and RBA's policy meet as well as UK's GDP print due this week. In India, focus will be on IIP data.

- Barring FTSE, other global indices ended higher. Investors' sentiments were supported by sharp improvement in global composite and Eurozone services PMIs. FTSE was dragged down by energy sector. Sensex too ended in green led by gains in banking, power and metal stocks. It is trading further higher today in line with other Asian stocks, even as China kept its growth projection for the current year at 5% (est.5.5%).

- Except Japan (flat), other global 10Y yields closed lower, with yields in US and Germany falling the most. 10Y yield in US fell by 10bps, as Fed's semi-annual report to Congress signalled that the central bank is likely to continue hiking at the current pace (25bps), instead of opting for more aggressive rate hikes. India's 10Y yield fell by 2bps, following global cues. It is trading lower at 7.38% today.
