Annual report analysis: W&C well capitalised; FMEG remains key

- Maintains leadership in wires & cables with ~23% market share; growth momentum in FMEG business sustained in FY22 (5Y CAGR of 30%)
- Management reaffirms long-term 'Project Leap' strategy with higher costsavings target of Rs 200bn (Rs 122bn in FY22) by FY26, a 13% CAGR
- Balance sheet remains robust; emerging W&C opportunities plus highgrowth FMEG foray reinforce our optimism; BUY, TP Rs 3,000

Key takeaways from our analysis of Polycab's FY22 annual report:

Remains leader in W&C segment: Polycab's wires & cables (W&C) business grew 48% in FY22 driven by the inflation-led rise in price realisations, with cost pressures remaining largely constant throughout the year. Although mostly pass-through, Polycab made the tactical decision to absorb increased prices in select categories within the cables segment in order to bolster market share. The company remains the market leader with a 22-24% share in the organised W&C market. In addition to the traditional growth in W&C from construction, utilities and telecom, opportunities are opening up from electric vehicles, renewables, digital connectivity and defence.

Sales mix to improve as FMEG share rises: The FMEG segment grew 21% in FY22. Polycab expects to continue outperforming industry growth (pegged at high-single-digits over the medium term), backed by rising disposable incomes, changing consumer preferences, technological advancements and privatisation. Notably, the company believes most of the categories in which it operates will grow in high-single-digits to low-double-digits over the next few years.

Strengthening distribution: Polycab has increased the number of authorised dealers and distributors from 4,100 to 4,600+ at end-FY22. In addition, its retail outlet reach has risen nearly 25% YoY, from 165,000 to 205,000. About 21% of this network is exclusively for the W&C business, 54% is utilised by the FMEG segment and 25% is common to both segments.

Net cash up, capex steady: The company plans to maintain an annual capex rate of Rs 3bn-4bn over the next few years, with a focus on greenfield and brownfield projects. Its financial position is strong with net cash of over Rs 11bn and D/E of just 0.01x. ROE/ROCE stood at 16.5%/20.5% for FY22.

Maintain BUY, TP Rs 3,000: We continue to value the stock at 35x FY24E EPS, a 50% premium to the 3Y average, and maintain BUY with a TP of Rs 3,000. Key downside risks to growth include higher commodity prices and a weaker economy.

Annual report analysis: Key takeaways

Polycab maintained its leadership in W&C in FY22, albeit at the expense of margins. The FMEG segment continued its momentum (30% CAGR over the last five years), and management expects to grow at twice the market rate with a 12% EBITDA margin in the medium term. The company has reaffirmed its long-term 'Project Leap' strategy with a higher cost-savings target of Rs 200bn (Rs 122bn in FY22) by FY26, implying a 13% CAGR. Its balance sheet remains strong, with an improvement in net cash position. Overall, we remain optimistic on the company's prospects given emerging opportunities for W&C from new-age businesses and ramp-up in the high-growth FMEG segment.

Wires & Cables

- The domestic W&C industry grew by 20-25% in FY22 on the back of higher realisations due to pass-along of rising costs. Polycab's W&C segment grew by 41% to Rs 107bn.
- The company's W&C growth was also driven by the inflation-led rise in price realisations, with cost pressures remaining largely constant throughout the year. Although mostly pass-through, Polycab made the tactical decision to absorb increased prices in select categories within the cables segment in order to bolster market share.
- Special purpose cables witnessed demand traction from rail and EV applications. Telecom (optic fibre) revenue more than doubled in FY22, albeit off a lower base. Management believes the growth surge was backed by traction in data centres, the growing number of mobile devices and increasing adoption of fibre-to-the-home (FTTH).
- Sales of domestic wires, which account for half of segment revenue, increased by 50% in FY22. Growth was broad-based across subcategories, with flexibles (lowduty cables) outpacing housing wires.
- To improve competitiveness in the economy range, the company launched new brand 'Etria'. In addition, it relaunched Polycab Green Wire with a new product proposition that highlights the benefit of its 5-in-1 GreenShield technology.
- Overall, management is optimistic about the medium-to-long-term growth prospects of the W&C business due to traction in the manufacturing sector, one of Polycab's key demand centres, and an upbeat housing sector. Further, sunrise segments such as EVs, renewable energy, data centres, digital connectivity and defence, among others, are expected to be growth levers in the coming years.

FMEG

- In FY22, FMEG growth was also price-driven with most product categories experiencing mid-single-digit to double-digit growth. Consolidation continued and large organised players remained in the lead led by branding and a better understanding of how to deal with uncertainties.
- Polycab's FMEG revenue increased by 21% YoY in FY22. Notably, this segment has clocked a CAGR of 30% over the last five years. That said, profitability has remained under pressure due to poor operating leverage and rising input costs.
- Per the company, the fans and appliances market increased by 9% YoY to Rs 131bn in FY22. During FY22, Polycab introduced over 30 new fan and appliance models in the premium, economy, BLDC, and other categories, with a focus on covering the entire price spectrum.
- The company estimates that the lighting and luminaires industry grew in the high single digits in FY22, owing primarily to price increases. The company's lighting and luminaires business grew significantly faster than the industry, owing to its expanding reach in newer towns, increased penetration in existing major cities, premiumisation initiatives, and leveraging of cross-selling opportunities through product expansion.
- Following the previous year's strategic interventions, Polycab's switchgear business maintained a healthy trajectory – growing more than 50% YoY while the industry grew by 30%.
- Overall, management believes the FMEG industry will grow in the high single digits over the medium term, driven by rising disposable incomes, evolving consumer preferences, technological advancements and premiumisation. Large, organised players are expected to grow at a much faster rate than the broader market as a result of increased consumer awareness, product availability, government regulations and the volatile business environment.

Other highlights

- The company has increased the number of authorised dealers and distributors from 4,100 to 4,600+ as at end-FY22. In addition, its retail outlet reach increased by nearly 25% YoY, from 165,000 to 205,000.
- Advertising & sales promotion rose to Rs 823mn from Rs 163mn, primarily focused on improving brand awareness through both digital and traditional channels.
- As part of its value unlocking strategy, the company merged the heavy duty and light duty cables verticals so as to increase cross-selling opportunities and improve operational proficiency.
- Polycab acquired a 100% stake in Silvan, a manufacturer of IoT-based automation products. Management believes that this, combined with the organic Hohm brand, can strengthen its offering in the Internet of Things (IoT) space.

- Polycab has sold its entire stake in Ryker for Rs 3.2bn owing to low utilisation and the planned divestment of non-core business. Nonetheless, Ryker will continue to supply high-quality copper rods at mutually beneficial prices.
- Management has guided for an annual capex of Rs 3bn-4bn over the next few years, with a focus on greenfield and brownfield projects. The company spent Rs 2bn in FY22 to acquire 55,000sq ft of office space.

Valuation methodology

Being the market leader in wires and cables, we expect Polycab to not only pass on the higher raw material cost but also to gain market share given its superior product quality. Its recent entry into the economical category via the launch of 'Etira' will help the company cater to all strata of consumers. In addition, we believe the measures taken under Project Leap and constant efforts to strengthen distribution could aid significant market share gains across product categories.

We continue to value the stock at 35x FY24E EPS, a 50% premium to the three-year average, given its strong growth profile and potential rerating towards FMEG valuations. We maintain BUY and an unchanged TP of Rs 3,000.

Key risks

Key downside risks to our estimates are:

- a drop in demand due to higher commodity prices,
- weakness in the economy which could erode disposable incomes,
- failure to gain market share in the FMEG segment, leading to loss of margins, and
- failure to penetrate into newer FMEG product categories.
