Market ends the week on a high as bulls outplay bears.

Post an initial dip, Nifty witnessed a strong recovery from 24200 levels and closed near the day's high on Friday. On the daily chart of the index, price can be seen closing just around the resistance zone of 24700-24800. However, the bullish momentum of Friday indicates high possibility of a gap-up opening on Monday's trading session. In case of the same, any initial pull back up to 24800 can be viewed as a buying opportunity. A deeper support can be seen at 24500 levels. We hold a positive view on the market going into the week and expect Nifty to touch higher levels. 25135 and 25750 are currently seen as the resistance levels.

Index gearing up for a new all-time high.

A strong performance from the private banks led to a seller's trap in Bank Nifty as the index breached above 53500 and closed the day on a high. On the technical front, price can be clearly seen respecting the support zone around 52500 levels and it also indicates continuation of the positive momentum going into Monday's trading session. The possibility of Bank Nifty hitting a new all-time high in the upcoming days seems very much on the cards. We maintain a bullish outlook on the index with a support at 53000 level while on the higher side an immediate resistance cannot be seen before 54500.
